

“This biscuit barrel has been handed down 4 generations. We fled South Africa when they changed the laws in apartheid, families were being split up, told they couldn’t live together, the decision based on the colour of their skin.”

